FAP Turbo Scalper Settings

The scalper mode of FAP Turbo brings daily trades unless the program determines the market is too volatile to trade safely. As an active trader it's my favorite mode of FAP Turbo and is really profitable.

The scalper mode has been optimized by its programmers to trade the following pairs in the 15 minute time frame: EURGBP, EURCHF, GBPCHF and USDCAD with the EURGBP being the most profitable. I trade all four pairs with FAP Turbo but do so with some restrictions on the EURCHF, GBPCHF and USDCAD.

EURGBP Settings

As I said before, the EURGBP is the most profitable pair to trade with FAP Turbo. I let the system trade this pair with no restrictions and place my greatest investment percentage with this pair. My settings are as follows:

Variable	Value
ab ____Scalper____	--- Scalper EURCHF, EURGPB, GBPCHF ...
UseScalperStrategy	true
Scalper_Lots	0.1
Scalper_UseMM	true
Scalper_LotsRiskReductor	10.0 10%

SETTINGS

Notice I use money manager set to the on (true) position and trade 10% of my available margin. All other settings are pretty much standard.

EURCHF, GBPCHF and USDCAD Settings

These pairs, while profitable, don't perform as well with FAP Turbo as the EURGBP pair. That is not to say they perform badly, just not as profitable. I trade these pairs every day and make quite a good profit.

One thing I noticed with all the pairs the scalper mode trades is that the first trade is almost always profitable. So I use the "OneTrade" setting in the scalper mode to only trade the first trade each day and use only five percent of available margin for each trade with these three pairs. The settings are pictured below:

Variable	Value
 ____Scalper____	-- Scalper EURCHF, EURGPB, GBPCHF ...
 UseScalperStrategy	true
 Scalper_Lots	0.1

FAP Turbo Long Term Settings

The long term mode of FAP works very well for those who want to take advantage of following global trends in the EURUSD currency pair. The long term setting trades less often but can be profitable as well.

If you have a small account I recommend not using the long term trading mode due to margin drawdown while waiting for trades to complete themselves.

Below are my settings for the long term mode of FAP Turbo:

How I Run FAP Turbo

This is simple, I run both the long term and scalper settings continuously and simultaneously. The scalper mode trades daily (except Friday as per my settings) and the long term not as often but always has a trade going unless the market conditions dictate otherwise.

If you haven't tried FAP Turbo I can't think of another forex trading robot to recommend. I've tried robots that cost much more and haven't been happy with the results. I almost didn't try FAP Turbo for that reason alone. If it weren't for a friend's recommendation I never would have tried FAP Turbo but I can't tell you how pleased with the program. If you are finding yourself in the same position I can understand. FAP Turbo is not cheap but it's worth it.
