GM my fellow Pivot Traders - Happy New Year !

I have been putting together reference documents of what I thought were the most important Posts for my study and review of Davit's fantastic work. I thought I would share them with you all as well to help others quickly review some of the important highlights I found of Davit's Posts for a quick reference. Of course, it is not all inclusive and an excellent exercise you may all want to do personally as well to capture what you feel are most important to keep as your quick reference file(s):

My Weekly analyses of calandar

Tues-Manufacturing PMI GBP

Weds-Construction PMI GBP

Green numbers here will have solid impact on G pairs specially on EG and this can dive 50+pips south

I am slightly leaning on green numbers here

Would I sell the Pound prior to this number release? No. There you go decision made simply by looking up on Calander

Weds

ISM Manufacturing PMI USD

FOMC Meeting Minutes-If this gives a hint for future 2018 hikes expect USD corrections to follow. I think very likely this scenario may play out since we had tremendous sell off USD last week.

Thurs-Services PMI GBP

File: 21 – Davit's - Posts on his Pivot Trading thread-2018-01-Pages- 130

Update: Tuesday, October 30, 2018

Earlier data might compound on this one. Should Tues Weds GBP data come out green and service green then very likely EG drop below 88 even 8750

Thurs

ADP Non-Farm Employment Change

Green projection can set the stage for Friday

Trade Balance AUD negative here can compound correction specially on AU and 7750 or lower possible

Friday

CPI Flash Estimate y/y Euro projection is slightly red and this may exhilarate USD correction EU 1920 by now possible

Note this are just my thoughts and market can prove anyone wrong.

Here is the big one why I hold big positions on UC longs and CJ Shorts

Employment Change CAD red projection

Unemployment Rate Red projection CAD

Trade Balance none mover in my opinion if above numbers come out red.

Non-Farm Employment Change USD

might surprise anyone here. I think it will be greener then forecasted.

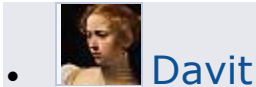

This is my overall view for this week

USD corrections and commodity pairs losing some ground

By doing this I have an idea what to expect when I look at the charts. I know what to avoid. Not going to sell USD after tremendous last weeks sell off

Anticipating corrections to follow

don't get sucked in by threads like this

<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthr...=638231&page=5>

lost 60% of 10k account in 1day. This is not trading this is going to casino Trading huge lots disproportionate to account size.

In my opinion number 1 reason traders lose in this business is position size.

drawdown is necessary at times.Its perfectly normal to have reasonable DD when intended trade reasons are still valid.
Price is a moving target at times you just need to wait it out.

severe arctic cold is helping crude up which helps CAD for now.
I don't think it will stay much up longer.Crude back 55 next few months likely and CAD back to 28-30

Nice green numbers on US economy so USD bulls may start building positions. I am one of them.

Only reason why CAD not falling apart yet. Oil just hit another high with storms brewing most of US. Thurs big one expected in Boston

Update: Tuesday, October 30, 2018

EU minimum 1950 by Friday in my view

Its hard shifting negative sentiment on USD to positive but once that happens it has snow ball effect

Oil making new highs keeping CAD alive very impressive gains on oil

CAD AUD NZD kind of move in unison as commodity pairs. When one is gaining like CAD on oil it boasts lifts other 2 as well AUD and NZD

Most trends end with a spike

Starting to get warm and with it I anticipate Crude dropping below 60 soon and with it the CAD Still holding my UC longs and my CJ shorts CJ in particular was way overstretched and provided excellent opportunity.

AN at 61S

watch PA and make your trades. Don't fear the market it's about executing signals after signals and coming ahead by sample size.

I may be wrong but don't try selling USD now like going EU AU NU longs. I think USD was oversold heavy last week of the year and we are going into corrections.

{quote} Davit, i am learning your trading style/system for a long time. Despite of that i have depleted 2 accounts so far. The problem was with the money management and overconfidence after weeks with profit. (GREED) I would like to ask you when you have time to explain: How are you scaling in into trades? I mean technically. Are you using buy/sell-stops/limits? My broker has a quite excessive minimum difference from the price to do so, for instance 250 points etc. (which can be a half pivot level) Do you manage it manually? How do you determine...

I try not over trade. That's the key yes keeping your greed in check. I scale gradually and once I hit my max size lot I stop.

Let me explain example you have 5k account. On 5k account my total positions should not exceed 5 dollars a pip. I even would lower it to 3-4 dollar MAX.

.50c a position would allow 6-10 positions safely. You can enter half at 61R/S example and the other at 78-100 and wait to see how trades turn out. If should you take a loss its less then had you entered all your lots at 61R/S. I rarely place limit orders. 99% of my trades are market execution.

Please trade demo until you are confident or trade small and smaller. What I do can't help you in reality. You must address your account specific size needs.

We have all basically blew an account. Lessons learned why should apply otherwise you will continue blowing accounts irregardless what system you trade. Every system requires money management.

I hope this helps

Hi Dab

I am short on CJ EJ AJ just so you know. Please don't make assumptions what i have going. regards

Hi John

Try keeping max lot at 3 dollar a pip at 1k account. To me correct size is important this way you are not trading in panic mode and allow trades to develop.

Hi Classy

I have been following your posts and one theme keeps coming that you want discussions,ideas,reassures in trading.One key element is missing
That is probability factor.

When I place a trade I don't question its outcome its either a winner or a loser and no amount of discussions by anyone is going to change this.What I trust that my system has an edge and over large sample size I will be in the winning side.This you must internalize.

Asking what others think is not trusting your methodology and that's when people chase system after system and never get a grip about trading psychology.

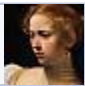

You are ready to jump to next step and trust yourself that you can.

regards

Closed CJ in good profit.

Earlier positions were overrun after NFP hence why you see lower entries. This was nice recovery. Not the best example of my trading. It was an ugly week for me. Lesson learned don't trade 1st week of the year.

interesting despite of crude hitting 63.50 CAD stayed weak. Looks like big money stopped buying the CAD and not buying the oil surge

I anticipate oil plummeting and with it the CAD

Please don't post CAD not correlated with crude anymore. I have traded CAD for 6yrs and know it well. All you have to do is track peaks and lows of crude and check out CAD charts at same period

Davit you closed CJ short, did you consider to scalp some longs from 61 S or you will just wait for retrace upward for possible reload ? Building permits came up -7.7%, guess this could push CAD little lower. {image}

I already have huge positions on UC hence prefer not touching CAD anymore until I get out of UC longs. Feel safer this way.

As Mark Douglas said anything can happen and I prefer limiting my exposure to any one currency.

running thin but reality is lots of oil is coming in the market including US producers. Its a commodity that progressively gets less demand and producers popping more in the market.

As for BOC raising IR again not likley for foreseeable future and if NAFTA gets reshuffled this will hurt Canadian economy.
JOB numbers in DEC that came out were fickle I just don't believe Canadian economy is as healthy as these numbers show. Part time help in holiday season sure shows well but that's that. What matters next 3months job growth

Hi Guys

That was crazy week.I am not discouraged though have great short positions on EU NU AU NC AJ long AN UC

I think serious correction is in the works on EU GU AU NU next week specially EU and GU

Next week BOC weds biggest news. Here is my take even if their raise IR CAD has already been priced in drop from 129 to 124.Very likely once this clears up UC continues going up.

IR hike is relevant if price is not reflecting yet that factor otherwise its already priced in.This part confuses lot of new traders

Based on last ditch effort to spike up EU and GU on Friday seems clear sign market makers were loading shorts.They need buyers to fill their shorts.

I can see your confusion

When I long on AN what I am speculating that between NZD and AUD I think AUD will gain on NZD and both will lose out to USD which I am selling both.

In essence I am betting NZD to lose more.I think NZD has reached and passed its limits what it should be worth.

One thing I accept in trading that anything can happen and nobody knows the future.We can easily have rest of the month Euro decline.Would it be impossible? No as a matter of fact likely scenario.In orders for price to go higher market needs fresh buyers hence pushing lower invites new buyers and trend continues.Corrections are result of profit taking and after such strong surge its likely to happen rest of the month.

Nice NC and AN opened with profits and will allow these to unfold. EU AU NU remains to be played out. I suspect range trading until US market opens on Tues.

Please ignore sky is falling charts and traders. Mistake is reading too much shit and scare yourself to close trades only to realize trades were heading to profits in few days without you because you read fellow traders posts who obviously have biases. Watch price action and determine your course of action not someone's opinion.

Wow, I'll tell you guys...great respect for what you're doing here. Especially you Davit. I just don't know if I have the screen time to make this successful. I'm trading live on a small account and have pretty much treading water (so not all bad). Trouble is I'll have entries (like a pack of AN longs) and then I'll miss the good exit while away or sleeping. They were heading up toward R38 last night so was going to watch reaction there but when I got up this morning already retraced quite a bit. 🙄 Typical result for me. {image}

Hi Spyderman

Try putting TP at key level like 940 since price has difficulty going higher. There is dairy action today and if dry milk price drops NZD will decline most likely which it has effected it in the past. It could break north or dive down below 900. Hard to guess the outcome of an auction now.

To be safe I would put TP 940 and it will be hit then you don't have to worry

I figured stay quiet weather the storm and looks like there is light end of the tunnel. Not my best in trading but PA has been very negative on USD and that to an extent not justified. US economy is doing well and Trump's tax bill will stimulate small business owners and with capital gains cut we can all use extra cash from hard earned gains.

I am holding on to my USD bull positions.

Have patience guys AUD and NZD have no place at this prices based on economy and fundamentals. We should see AU drop 77 soon and NU 71
Specially AUD which there is talk about cutting rates not increasing it specially that housing market is cooling off now.

AU just kicked my ass...

trade small and smaller and keep in mind most irrelevant news spikes then comes down in 4hrs.

Sometimes its a good thing for reversal.MM push take stops and dump their opposite positions.Its a way of creating liquidity for large order fills.

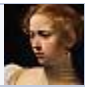

WE saw EU spike to 2322 and now seating at 2268.I actually like that it spiked above 23

GM guys

Just a general refresher.When price gets rejected from 61-100 pivots often continuation down is not straight line.Its seldom that price gets rejected then bounces higher from swing high 61-100 but more common it travels away from 61-100 towards WP weekly equilibrium then if the move is stronger it drops 38 then finally opposite side 61-100.

Example NU hit 61R got rejected dropped now making typical AB=CD

UC what I have been reading BOC does not anticipate anymore rate hike this year. This could turn out to be sell the fact since rate hike was priced in.

Lets see next few days how USD fares.

That was some serious stop hunting. I believe it had something to do with Government shut down

Republicans Scramble for Unity Ahead of a Government Shutdown

<https://www.theatlantic.com/politics...s-chip/550694/>

Well truthfully any excuse to hammer the stops.

Actually made decent money today.

Took it on the chin 1st week of Jan then started to hammer the winners.

Yes have done mistakes this month. Could of waited 10 days to see where market is heading but overall not bad regained my losses and in decent profit now.

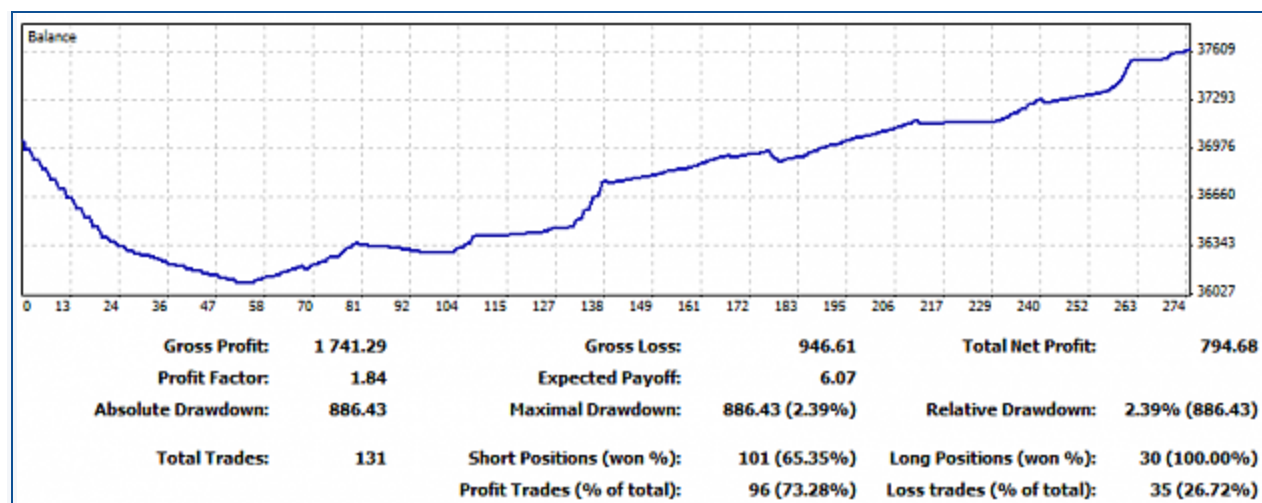

I have faith in my system keep hammering those winners

This has been most challenging month for me. I think I speak for lot of traders. Unexpected USD decline has created sort of chaos. Well I believe US economy is sound and healthy and think USD bulls will return soon. Things go in cycles. If not then will gradually get out of my positions. Its not end of the year just beginning and we got another 11 months of trading ahead.

{quote} Davit's advice was a very good suggestion, however it is worth noting that people have different dominate learning styles. Some are visual, some auditory, some kinesthetic (learn by doing) and some read/write. If you don't know what you are it's worth finding out and tailoring an aid to your style. Quick google search gives you some more info about the learning styles and how to tell which you are eg <https://www.google.de/search?ei=ZNJf....0.C9DMPNPmX48...>

I agree with you but figured pink paper staring at you is better then nothing.I know it gets my attention.

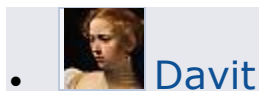

As far as learning in general agree everyone is different.

business conditions for firms reliant on domestic consumption), inflation outcomes and expectations.

- Financial instability – A decade of rising housing prices, low interest rates and easy credit has resulted in Australia carrying one of the highest household debt-to-GDP ratios in the world. Sudden upward changes to interest rates, arising from global and domestic factors, could have adverse impacts on debt serviceability and economic growth. High household debt also weighs down on household consumption.

Household consumption

Household consumption is an area of uncertainty.

Retail trade, a proxy for household consumption, is cyclical, but the trend has been a decline from 1986 to the present.

The sector has been a particular area of weakness in the Australian economy since 2016, and the decline appears to be continuing.

Factors that have exacerbated this trend are digitization (shift to online shopping and overseas competitors) and increasing competition and price pressures.

Contributors to low household consumption measured by retail trade include low wages growth and high household debt.

Add to above Chinese economy expected to contract in 2018 and with it decline of iron ore prices (China buys bulk of Aussie iron ore) then we got shaky situation that RBA may cut further not increase rate.

There are individuals who trade PAC moving average channel buy above sell below. Simple. Well its not that simple. Would you have sold at end of pivot zone? Look at orange box I drew? or would you buy now?

Not in my book. Most MA PAC traders are astonishingly oblivious to the fact that swings end!!! It always baffles me when there is little regard to this reality.

Bleeding tough month for me too Davit, Currently short EU with 1 in the money and 3 underwater - been a bloody pain and been shorting into it for weeks Long USD/JPY with 1 in the money Long USD / Cad with 2 in the money

Friday weekly close is important.Hold until tomorrow see how it unfolds.

If They manage to make a deal on government budget and avoid a shut down by Friday this would be major boast to USD nice John I am on same trade 👍

green pips

Guys if you have time please watch CNtrader latest post and he has small video to watch. He is a professional trader living off from trading.

<https://www.forexfactory.com/showthr...2#post10689542>

Patience part important.

The whole philosophy of multiple entries and smaller positions are there to cushion you from typical spikes that takes out most retail traders and combine with patience then the FEAR is taken off from trading.

Example I have target AJ 87 and have many reasons to wait for this and I am. It may not get there next week but might get there by the end of the month and should that occur I will fulfill good chunk of my % goal for the month.

This is why its important to relax and allow trades to develop

We have a government shut down situation and worse time to decide to take a loss on USD! allow time things to come back to normal then see if PA changes. Your decisions should be realistic and not done in panic mode.

Hi John....just my opinion, but do you think it might be a better idea to stick with one method, rather than trying to juggle a couple of methods at once. I see you posted this same chart on cigarguys PSVRA thread.

Just my thoughts, as it must be confusing with all those indicators from PSVRA....in addition to the pivot method that Davit is presenting here.

Good luck to you anyway.

If Shut down is avoided today we can anticipate some profit taking on USD bears and could swing opposite direction for meaningful corrections on USD

AU has no business going above 80 not with present fundamentals. This should melt down soon. I have been reading and educating myself on Aussie economy and its a ticking time bomb. WE already saw raise in unemployment and this trend could continue plus with highest debt to household spending in developed economies puts a cap on RBA interest rate decision because raising more and you can have massive effect on consumer spending and that effects GDP and employment plus not mentioning effect on foreclosures. RBA is likely to cut rate not increase it in 2018 or stay put Someone on popular thread 🤔 is saying AJ not YET showing weakness or south movement! Really?

50pips is more then decent drop for MOST traders!!!

love FF its continuous learning gold mine. 50pip drop is not enough. Whats enough until drops under multiple MA's, Channels, Ribbons confirmed by few oscillators and by the time its good to go swing is over! LOL

To say came late to the party is understatement.

Calendar events next week

Lets 1st recognize pink elephant in the room. US shutdown government. What this means for USD? Better question would be how would market makers use this event? In the last shutdown USD got stronger and after 6 weeks of selling off USD there is a great chance this could be the catalyst for bounce and corrections on USD.

Monday

Update: Tuesday, October 30, 2018

JPY rate no change but their Press Conference any hint of future hike market will start price it in. I anticipate UJ getting back into weekly range. See chart below.

UP from fri close heading back into grey box

Weds

GBP Average Earnings Index 3m/y no change here however I anticipate green number and should it be green we might see EG drop further.

NZD CPI forecast is lower then previous. If red it will be hard for this pair try to stay afloat. I am heavy short on NU 7150 TP area

Thurs

CAD core retail sales. Dec was very rosy 0.8 could of been holiday shopping....I am bearish on CAD and if this comes out red more reason to sell it. Crude dropping will help weaken CAD as well and there are signs its going into corrections at present 6345 drop from 6425 high

ECB Press Conference-Big one. After very quick Euro appreciation I anticipate extreme dovish ECB. Last thing they need is more appreciation. I will look EU to drop below 22 and head towards 21 on the other hand should they drop hints of reducing bond buying this might become bullish however chance of this is not great since after 6 weeks of USD sell off its expected corrections to take place.

Friday

GBP-Prelim GDP q/q green here would send EG lower

CAD CPI again Dec was .3 however could of been holiday shopping and this may print red.

USD-Advance GDP q/q forecast is red however this could print green
Core Durable Goods Orders m/m forecast huge green number

Update: Tuesday, October 30, 2018

here.This is good for USD

GBP BOE Gov Carney Speaks

JPY BOJ Gov Kuroda Speaks

They move price in most cases.

I am anticipating USD getting stronger next week.Green pips everyone!Went 40-0 last week and good reduction of DD decent gain.Better then losses.I am just happy getting through this month.Has been very challenging but love a challenge!

Another very important development that could have great effect on Euro.

<https://www.cnbc.com/2018/01/19/a-ge...is-sunday.html>

A crucial German vote this Sunday is seen as the key near-term driver for euro/dollar

If SPD rejects coalition government this sun expect Euro to open lot lower and despite of US shutdown which in my opinion is minor event.

Ulrich Leuchtmann, head of FX and EM Research at Commerzbank, said Friday that Sunday's decision has the potential to move the euro in either direction.

"Rejection threatens to lead to either a minority government in Berlin or to new elections. Both are not good for the euro simply because they would create uncertainty," he said via email.

"More importantly, however, the GroKo (grand coalition) would probably be euro-positive because this constellation could represent the greatest degree of Germany's support for the French president's European initiative among all conceivable political constellations in Berlin."

Leuchtmann said he could not forecast a result but that SPD delegates are normally "well-behaved party soldiers" who follow the leadership.

In a note Thursday, Morgan Stanley's European FX team wrote that Sunday's vote is the "key potential near-term risk" for unwinding the recent upward run for the euro.

It said a rejection of the deal could see the euro slip back down towards $1.17. Assuming a vote to pursue coalition talks is achieved, Morgan Stanley calls upside resistance at $1.23.

Well I would welcome SPD to reject! 🤔

GM Davit et al,

Just some observations this morning, which I wanted to share with you all on Pivots:

*** Background:

There was a Bearish momentum on AC today where so far I was able to capture +95.7 Pips despite this week's jump of the WP to approx 60 Pips higher, from the R78 level going down to R38, thus increasing my DD. This suggested to me that despite these changes, the new R38 remained as valid as the prior R78. This was associated with the PA moving down during the beginning of the EURO GROUP meeting this morning.

Personally this was a major concern for me requiring further analysis as I was worried about my DD level on this AC pair.

*** Methods of Analysis: Use of PVT- WK against the the Pivot MN and Pivot D1 Charts, as well as the corresponding Harmonic Charts using the M30 TF. Accordingly, the ADR was also evaluated.

*** Raw Data:

WK PIVOT on M30:

*** Discussion:

PVT WK went significantly higher this week by 60 approx. Pips, compared to both the PVT MN and D1, both remaining the same as was the WK PVT level last week.

As observed, the WK-DVT jump so much higher this week, resulting in the PVT-WK (or 7 days) and immediate effect making a larger DD, thus producing a larger risk of reaching a %Margin < 200 and therefor a greater risk of a Margin Call.

Perhaps, when 2 out of 3 are PVT frames (MN, D1) are similar vs. the 3rd PVT Frame (WK), with the latter two PVT Frames being identical at R78%, suggesting the last two being a better correlate with the Reversal Swing over time, with stronger probabilities of the PA returning to the Pivot, with such a Pivot-Wk based change and DD.

There was no change in the ADR Indicator across all Charts.

*** Conclusions:

This technique of a broader analysis may be effective in determining the probability of swing reversals across time. However, before a conclusion can be reached, there requires further ongoing observations of different Pair types (Majors vs Crosses vs Commodity Pairs), over period of time and determining and geopolitical events, for these observations to be considered valid and reproducible, with given Currency Pairs.

Surprisingly, the one observation that was consistent across the board was that the ADR Indicator which did not change. Thus, this ADR Indicator may carry more weight in determining PA Reversal, DD, risk-benefits ratios and P/L outcomes. This may be the result of this specific ADR% Indicator using Current day, 1, 5, 10 and 20 Days for its analysis and signals  $\leq 75\%$  being low and  $\geq 91\%$  considered high. I will need to further look into finding the author(s) of the Code for this Indicator for further analysis as well.

Davit his Post #1, he warns:

"Note very important this system does not work best with hyper pairs that usually have over 120pip ADR like GJ GA GN etc

From numerous trial and errors low ADR pairs fits the best in my method

Pairs I trade most often

UC AC NC EA AU GU NU AN EU"

--- Future Study

Out of curiosity, I would like to run stats in the future on the above observations with ADR, 61-78-100 zones, TDI crosses with post-1 hour numeric Red News outcomes, to determine the predictive values for each of the ideal pair using sensitivity and specificity percent values as well of bell curves, etc.

But, in the end, MDs teaching that you can never know the markets future, only improving winning pips over time assuming the randomness and probabilities of the Markets with a specific leverage or "The Edge" as with Davit's above Pivot Method and Analytical approaches. And, Forex Trading like the practice of Medicine, requires both a scientific approach of probabilities and art or intuition based on practice and experiences.

Excellent Davit - Thanks again for sharing your knowledge, experiences, unique method and skills in Forex Trading!!!

Cheers all !

Hi guys

One of my favorite bread and butter pairs again coming in focus.Watch PA and make your trades.

In retrospect I wished I did not trade USD pairs at all for this month.Its holding lot of margin and seems going nowhere so far.Might change by Friday

AN

PA looks like wants to break 900 and I think it will hence looking at 78-100s area for longs

Quoting DrForexMD

GM Davit et al, Just some observations this morning, which I wanted to share with you all on: *** Background: There was a Bearish momentum on AC today where so far I was able to capture +95,7 Pips despite this week's jump of the WP to approx 60 Pips higher, from the R78 level going down to R38, thus increasing my DD. This suggested to me that despite these charges, the new R38 remained as valid as the prior R78. This was associated with the PA moving down during the beginning of the EURO GROUP meeting this morning. Personally this was a major concern...

Hi John

I am on this trade 👍 green pips may take some time to get going that's pretty much all my trades now. Not having good month little dismayed at myself

Did not anticipate such severe bearish sentiment on USD and that's puzzling to me...

Closed AC+157

Need the margin on AN which I like more and basically shifted orders there.

I am bearish on the CAD so staying away from it. I do anticipate CAD getting dumped soon. I am UC long so as long as this is going no point of buying the CAD against others.

NU is overachieving after weds CPI this is ripe to tank
WE should see NU at 71 and AU at 76 next 2months or earlier. Feds may start the usual rate hike drumroll and US economy is doing good but will pick up stronger after freeing some regulations and cutting capital gains tax in essence allowing businesses to expend and hire. Trump is actually doing good despite what you read in liberal media
Todays USD sell off is mostly lead by UJ which propels other majors to follow.I think breaks are coming down on UJ

To see the power of pivots just look at NC at 61R its objective clear!

No ifs and buts

Price is effected by pivots more then not.

Pull up AN chart and look where price bounced do it!

Hi Fellow Pipsters,

I have renamed the Quick Reference Files of Davit's Key Posts for rapid assimilation of the encyclopedic material on this Pivot Trading FF thread - Note that these files are my personal POV on what were the most important Key Posts by Davit and his students. Collation of these files of Key Posts here was an attempt to personally absorb this material and secondarily to share them with others here trying to do the same thing. And, the other reason was to have something to review so I would not have idle time before my Charts to force trades from sheer boredom !

First, the 2016 pdf Quick References:

Now, there are NO longer any reasons to Post basic questions that are already covered in these files - especially the very first Post #1 in the first Review Reference pdf above and have at least 2 years of Forex trading experience as this is truly an advanced FF Thread. Otherwise, you are truly at greater risk of losing money and possibly excused (removed) from his friendly Thread in order to not set the rest back and cause Davit unnecessary frustration. Just a friendly warning from me... a very humble student here.

Please read, extract, assimilate and then review this material over and over again to make it "second nature", like "driving a car" as Davit often says here. And, newcomers, please note that I have been around the Forex world for more than a decade and have not found a stress-less way to achieve my goals - major Green Pips to do as I please in the next 5 to 10 years with the power of compounding money with a system like this shooting for a monthly 10% return using the Methods here - FREE of CHARGE from Davit !

Hi Pipsters,

I am watching for today's News and reaction by the EG which I believe is in an excellent PVT set-up for going North (Bullish) d/t strong sentiments based on Euro's recent economic growth across the board with exports, etc., positive meetings in Brussels and Pivotal Position nearing a major S100-138 Zone. In turn, the GBP situation seems to be relatively less optimistic with poor employment while climbing

Hi Pipsters,

Using FxChoice Demo platform to monitor Indices for USD Strength, Crude Oil, and Gold, there seems to be some very nice mathematical correlations.

As you can see, the weakening USD reflected by decreasing DXY (Dollar Index) is consistent with increasing EU and GU, while differentiation of these two using EG; as well as, elevated Crude Oil price is consistent with better CAD economy with dropping UC and increasing Gold purchasing by the MMs with decreasing DXY:

Attached Image (click to enlarge)

I plan to do some number crunching using theses Pairs with their countries indices as follows and News-weighted outcomes:

Forex Power = Currency Pair x Indices x News x k. where k is a potential threshold value to Buy or Sell Currencies ! This may at least help to add to further add to FA, TA and Profit probabilities (The Edge) . However, the trained human brain remains the best around. Needless to say, this may be a great reason for me to learn Python 3.5 Programming Language to download and produce some interesting statistical results. or MT4 coding for real-time results. Or, although cumbersome, just using MS Excel Spreadsheets and Access Databases to crutch numbers, or C Language, all of which I already have extensive expertise using them ! But, the bottom line is to use my brain to learn FAs adequately like others here.

Are there any FF Coders out there ready for this potential Project?

Well otherwise, I will try myself 😊

Cool beans for this Old Nerd!

Hi Guys

Pretty tough day.Closed some red positions but main shorts AU and NU will not close since I firmly believe these are going south after ECB.

ECB event in my opinion is propping other majors once this clears house of cards collapses.

AT present MM taking stops squeezing weak shorts.Its typical. Did US economy collapse of a sudden? Nope as matter of fact will get stronger so there is no reason for this to continue. Part of trading is managing risk.Do what you must do but don't cut losses out of panic stay calm.If you must take a loss cut 25% positions then wait.Its same approach gradual in and gradual out.

Forex is funny only recently market dumped NZD because of socialist government election results and still same socialist government but its 700pips higher

What gave? Its pretty cyclic and sometimes defies all logic.

EU H4 closed above WR100. This means we're in a strong uptrend based on fundamentals, right? Davit, are you expecting just a shallow move down before going up?

ECB is the key and I think whatever it is in my view its already priced in. I think it will most likely tank after Draghi 22 is where I am looking in near term.

Note the divergence of price with COT (smart money). This seems to indicate that an EU drop is imminent. I apologise for posting other than with your template but I consider COT data relevant and just to present the divergence. {image}

I don't believe in divergence. Its just mathematical computation by oscillator. I stopped looking at them. There is no reliable evidence that divs work.

I have looked hard into it and its just how oscillator catches up with price.

Example look at NC daily chart 150pips up since Div then price dropped. That's huge distance

I think PA+Pivots best for me and sticking to that

I agree with you on the point that, in general, divergences are useless - especially on shorter TFs and with respect to indicators (which are always lagging).

This seems different to me: divergence with what smart money is doing and they follow fundamentals a lot more than retail traders in general.

Also, this is a weekly TF.

I see it as confluence for a EU drop. Time will tell, I guess.

{quote} Hi Davit, I would think the bearish USD movement is a result of the RISK ON sentiment for equities. The DOW jumped about 25pc last year while USD fell off a cliff. With Trump signalling corporate tax reduction, people probably getting on board pouring more money into shares, resulting in continued USD sell off.

You are making excellent points and I agree. 🍷 good post thanks

Please explain what you are thinking. Why would U fall because of risk on? If equities attract capital, also from abroad, then U should strengthen.

Also, with Trump's tax reform, which is positive for capital income and repatriation of firms' cash abroad, U should strengthen again.

Then why is U falling? I think it has more to do with USA wanting a soft dollar to make exports cheaper in the middle of a trade war it has started (NAFTA, washing machines, etc. etc.), where other countries will do tit for tat and the only way to keep selling US exports is to make them a lot cheaper.

My 2 cents.

Its more like shifting funds away from USD to Stocks and equities. Cheap dollar is good for Wall Street. Same thing happens on Nikkei when yen falls Nikkei does better and opposite.

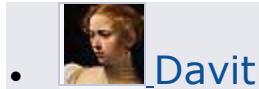

I am sure there are lot more reasons but I think this is true in general

Keep in mind that in forex forces that move price can push any way they want to. Example USD can get stronger again despite of what any Trump's official says.

Market makers have power to push price take out stops make money then go opposite direction take out the longs. In my opinion its difficult to guess at times and why forex can be challenging. This is why I stress to trade small. Always good to have a cushion

GM Pipsters, I believe we are going to have some major Buying USD across the board on the today with the Majors due Trumps touting a stronger dollar and compromise with the DACA policy and these pairs all in the correct Pivot Zones (>61%). I do not think Trump's issue with the FBI or North Korea an issue by the MMs, especially on a Friday Close. But, who knows what the MMs are really planning. I know to make money off of us ! Of course, we have to watch the spikes with the NYO open and all the read news at 0830 EST. I will just trade tiny trades...

Yeah right Doc.....

why would anyone take any notice of what your prophecies are. You have nothing mate. Stick to swanning around the numerous threads. Stick to changing your Member Status from goodness knows what to (equally) goodness knows what at your whim.

Stick to attaching (absolutely) any number of (failed) demo accounts. Stick to posting this sort of crap that simply shows you are an idiot. Why don't you show all those myriad of losing trades. You just pick an unusual winning day and post your crap. Time

And then you post this crap and expect people to recognise you as some great mentor/trader.....when it is clear to all that you are simply "picking" the best from the worst.....and clearly gloating off that small (demo ?????) trade.

I know you from "Learn to trade the Market" (LTTTM). ....Nial Fuller ring any bells???? Remember back when you couldn't follow Nials rules about posting charts??? And you almost got banned.....and then you had a "rant" over hear on FF about how you were mistreated at LTTTM.

Remember how you completely "overtook" Lawgirls thread....and posted ridiculous charts and info that had ZERO to do with her thread????

I have no idea of what you are doing here.....have you been thrown out of your profession due to negligence????? Because I am absolutely of the opinion that you are negligent here.....and with trading .....I suggest in the strongest terms that you close your laptop NOW. Tomorrow...you delete anything to do with trading from your computer....and go and annoy other people.

""""Davit....my apologies for this. I know you hold this person in some high regard. I am afraid that you have been duped by this person. I understand that you will probably put me on your ignore list, but just be aware that this person has about as much faith/respect for your method....as he does for anybody else.

Sorry again Davit. I just HATE people who are (basically) liars. Post something that is NOT REAL.....something that actually resembles the ACTUALITY of the moment/session/week WOULD BE much more acceptable than "cheery picking" crap that (in your eyes) just makes you feel good,.....and then waiting for people to click on the "like" icon.

As a "supposedly" medical professional.....surely you would recognise that there are some issues that you might like to take the time to address.

Whatever you choose....I DO wish you well.....but this is CLEARLY NOT the avenue you were looking for.....Some traders actually give a stuff about their trading. Clearly yours is not a serious adventure.....and that is abundantly clear.

Good luck to all (if you don't believe me.....take a look at his profile.....have a look at how many times he has changed his status.....how many times he has added (then deleted TE's.....and the abundance of crap that has come before this latest surge....

Enough time spent on this idiot....

Michael, There never has been any mystery that I have enjoyed learning and trading in an eclectic fashion. You apparently have issues with me personally, perhaps because of your poor results to date. I have been open with my results as I am here to finally get results my brother. Are you one of the clowns who harassed Davit on TMS as well?

Have you ever posted your results here? You will see my results on my personal FF Thread here and you are welcomed to befriend me to see my actual results because of the teachings of Davit and CigarGuy. The downward results in the recent past were my need to withdraw money to pay some bills and not my trading necessarily.

Anyway, I love the teachings of all that I have studied here on the FF threads, but finally have honed down to CigarGuy's quick scalping FIFO technique around News and the genius of Davit and his techniques for positioning using PA-PVT-ADR. I am integrating these methods in order to synthesis my personal techniques, thus allowing me to go from a broad perspective of "location", or David's Pivots, using TF M15 and up to keep my DD in check and looking at the details levels with TFs M5-M1 for immediate trades. Both Davit and Cigarguy teach about trading in small multiple lots with adequate equity to help protect against losses.

I am very happy with my results because of focusing on CigarGuy, Lawgirl's and Davit's contributions here. I did not "take-over" LG's thread, I was new on FF and wanted a place to learn and post, while refining my techniques. What are you a Stalker and Lurker here on FF? Shame on you Michael...grow up and consider getting counseling as I am sure your attitude spills over to how you treat loved ones around you. Seriously, get some help.

Try taking an enema and colonic when you get like this - that is, whenever you feel like lashing-out like this because you are acting like an evil miserable impacted fool who enjoys hurting others for whatever issues you have! You not only have fecal matter coming out of your mouth (orally biting-sadist), but fecal impaction from anger causing constipation. Infantile anger is a very poor defensive mechanism. In the end, an angry personality eventually kills or reduces good health and longevity! Try exercising or masturbating more...that will help your frustrations.

Folks, I personally am so grateful for Davit and CigarGuy for there altruistic sharing of their genius as Professional Forex Traders free of charge on FF!

For the sake of not causing any friction here for Davit, who I deeply respect and admiration, I am very grateful for his major guidance. I will continue just Posting on my own Journal on FF...that is just fine with me. I do not want to lower myself to people like you like the folks on TMS who harassed Davit last year out of obvious jealousy and personally issues. Like others here, I enjoy learning and sharing on FF. It is the plight of Mavericks to have the mediocre attack them. I have always been likened to being a Maverick b/c of my ingenuity in solving problems or creating new ideas or perspectives by professionals.

BTW, I do not have any animosity toward you because I understand your frustrations of being mediocre in your thinking and probably your Forex trading. And, if I am an "idiot", what does that make you? Do you know who you really are?

I welcome your response here as Davit enjoyed the responses from jealous fools made on TMS and here. So, "Make my day" ! 🙄 But, I will not respond back to lower myself to your standards.

Peace and success to all here. And, don't give Davit any hassles here or "I'll be Back!" (LOL)

Cheers all and have a great weekend ! Even you Michael, I wish you the very best. However, consider reflect on your poor and petite attitude. And, I do hope you never attack any one else here or anywhere on FF !

Sincerely,

-John

PS: I will be interested on how Davit response to your Post above. I will definitely document it and have in my files as it documents my progression in Forex trading. Thank you brother and may you also be very successful ! It is known by professionals in success coaching that to wish others success (competitors) in business only makes you successful in business - To do the opposite will only set you back in your own success!

i don't mean to butt in the hating between you 2, but i don't understand how losing trades causing downward results is due to withdrawer of money? that clearly said returns by trades so even if you withdraw, if you were not actually losing, i don't believe it can show downward results? or are you thinking we are all stupid and are just making up excuse thinking no one would notice?

Hi MichaelG

I am going to remove you from this thread. We respect folks here and if you had valid points you could have conveyed in a more civilized manner.

Myself I have been subject of similar and worst attacks and it really upset me and I know John is upset now.

I think USD will start rebounding since markets usually start pricing in the event before the date.

Fed to take a step toward a March interest-rate hike

<https://www.forexfactory.com/news.php?do=news&id=733815>

in my view USD is poised for serious corrections specially on UC AU NU. AU in particular has no business being in 80's this should drop to 76 where its true worth is. EU most might drop back to 2050 but not lower then 1.20 unless something dramatic changes politically in Euro zone.

Anyway these are my thoughts and market will do what it does.

Hi guys

When you have a range situation please draw a box then watch which way is breaking out going. EJ last week.

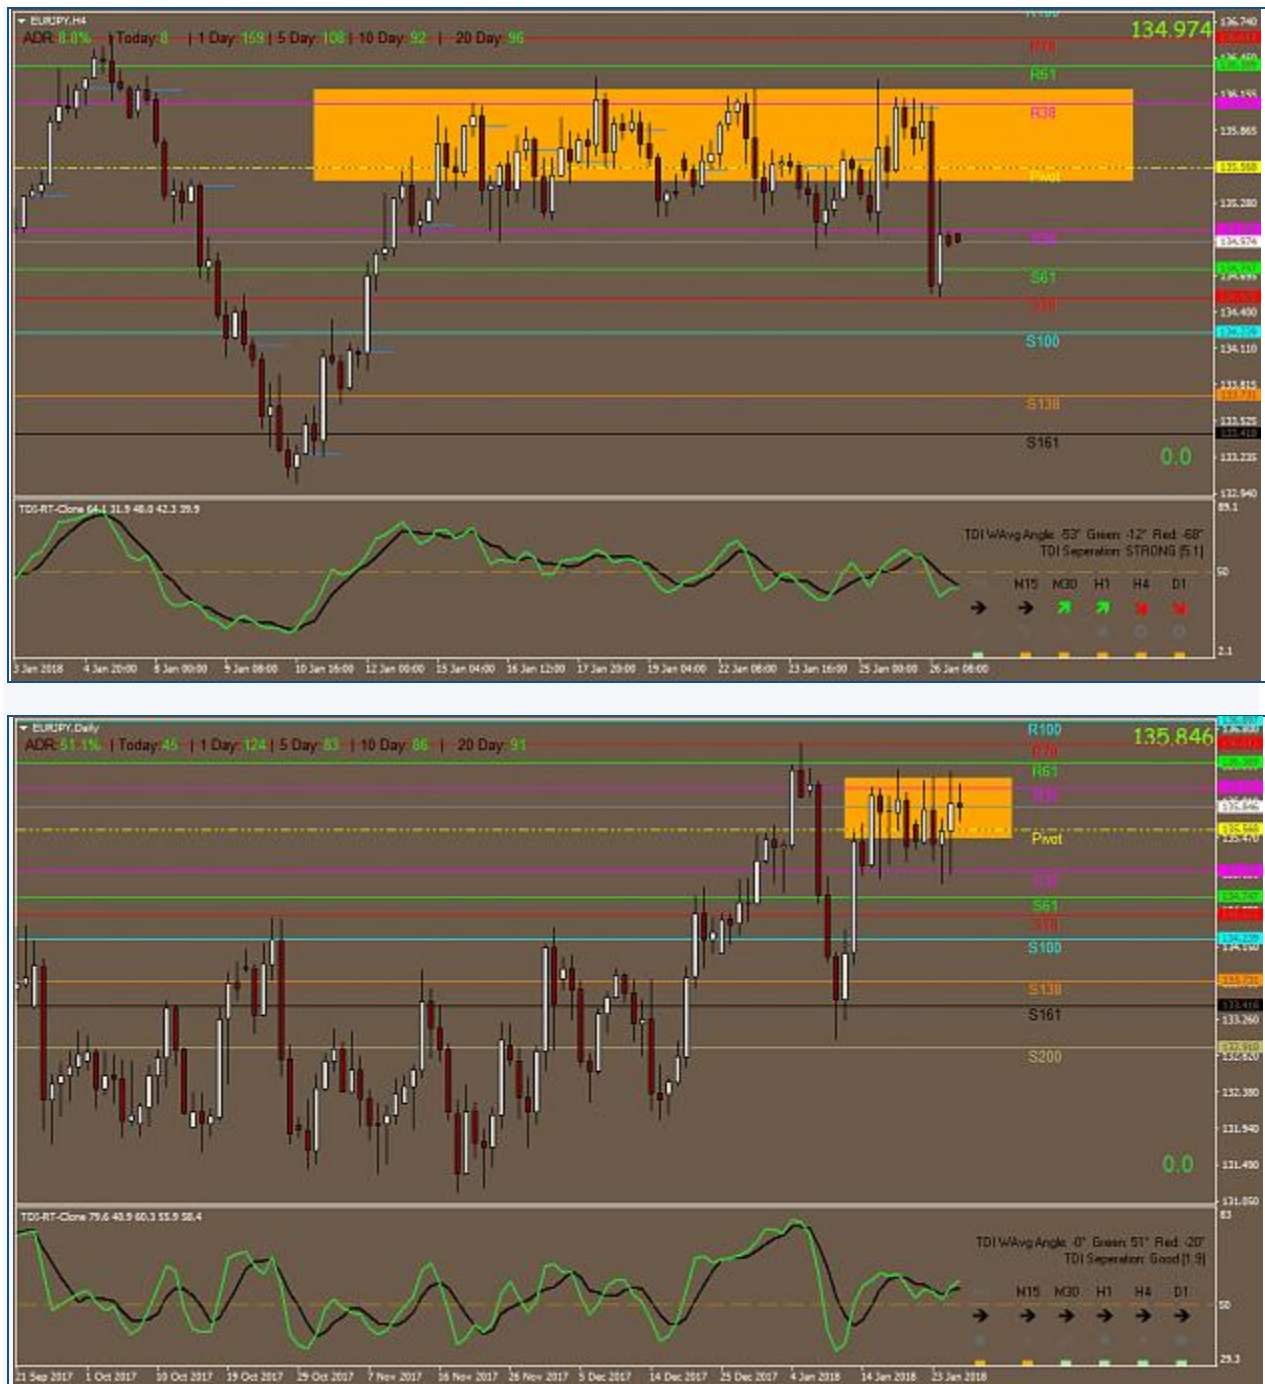

I had a earlier D chart just to show. When price is closer to 61 then chances are greater opposite direction

Tune yourself to these things please. I love range love trading it.

both should correct minimum 200pips

USD is oversold and based on fundamentals its actually lower now then it should be. Part of it was caused by Mnuchin comment.

March Feds hike is in horizon so there is tremendous room for USD to gain.

Patiently going to wait until most overrated currencies to fall AUD CAD and NZD specially AUD at almost 81 is laughable in current fundamentals.

When these drop its going to be shift.

People posting their winners is fine however I am more interested how you'll do in 3months. Lot of names won't be here.

There are Gypsy traders who continuously trade systems and move on and master none.

AUD is not moving much because of CPI tonight. If red this will collapse quickly. In my opinion its already way overbought.

Strange push of NZD and AUD looks hallow specially both CPI's were red recently.

Could be case of taking stops triggering large fills. Every trend basically ends with a spike. USD has no business of losing to NZD and AUD or even the CAD

Something is going to collapse soon. Maybe after the Feds today

What we experienced last 24hrs shows the value of having wider stops otherwise you would of been taken out and price returned original position even in profit.

Keep that in mind smaller positions wider stops.

Now its USD bears turn to be crashed.
